Important Announcement

Starting Sunday, January 1, 2012 the pastors are going to begin preaching and teaching from the English Standard Version (ESV) of the Bible rather than the New International Version (NIV). They will also begin to gradually integrate the ESV into all of our adult Sunday school material.

On Sunday evening, September 11th, Pastor Tim will explain to the congregation why this switch is being made.

Following Pastor Tim's presentation on the ESV, there will be a table in the gym with several different options of the ESV Bible which will be available for purchase at a discounted rate. If you would like to purchase one, you can sign up and we will order them in bulk.

Return the completed form to the communications table and place in the box marked "Awana Pre-Registration Forms". ## Beacon of Hope Update

Thank You!

Thank you to all who give financially to Beacon of Hope faithfully throughout the year. Your generosity keeps the food pantry and Learn & Earn Store shelves stocked so that we can serve an ever increasing number of clients.

Speaking of Numbers Served . . . . .

For the second quarter of this year, Beacon of Hope served 300 unduplicated (counted only once) individuals (this number includes everyone in the household of the enrolled client) for a total of 1728 served (the number in each household times the number of visits for the quarter). Both of these represent increases over the first quarter. Please pray that God will continue to provide the resources that Beacon needs.

Calling All Gardeners

If your garden is overflowing with God's bounty, please consider donating the excess to Beacon of Hope. Because Beacon has limited refrigerator space, it is best to bring your donations on Mondays or Tuesdays. You can contact Karen Leif if you have any questions or would like to let her know that you have produce to donate.

Help needed in Learn & Earn Store

Volunteers are needed to help in the Learn & Earn store on Tuesday evenings. Responsibilities include helping clients with their purchases, keeping the shelves stocked, and packing bags. If you are interested, please contact Karen Leif.

Upcoming Events

September will be busy at Beacon of Hope with the Fall Kick-off Event on September 14 followed by the beginning of the men's and women's Bible studies on September 21. On September 20, Beacon of Hope will host its second Buckle Up Event (put on by Clinton County Safe Kids), where parents who have children in car seats can get their seats checked to be sure children have not outgrown them or that they have not been recalled.

"BY THE WAY, WHAT IS OUR POLICY ON....."

FUNERALS

Funerals are a sensitive and difficult time for the families involved. As a church we want to show compassion and concern for those who have lost a loved one. Whether it is a close or distant relative, there is always a sense of loss and separation.

At the same time, due to the size of our church, we realize that there are limits that have to be placed on the use of our facility and the energies of our people. After much thought and prayer, the pastoral staff and deacons drew up the following guidelines for funerals and funeral dinners. We realize that no policy is perfect and that from time to time it may cause a misunderstanding. We hope that publishing these guidelines will at least help families to know the policy prior to the stressful time that inevitably surrounds a death.

FUNERALS: Funerals may be conducted in our church building only when the deceased person has been a member or regular attendee of our church. We would consider an exception only in the following circumstances:

1. If the funeral of a fellow believer from another church is anticipated to be larger than their facility will accommodate, we will consider allowing the family to use our building. The deceased person must have been a member or regular attendee of his or her church, and the church must have the same doctrinal stand as our church. The pastoral staff must approve each request.
2. If longtime members of First Baptist Church retire and move to another part of the state or country, and they desire, upon their death, to have their funeral back at First Baptist Church, we will consider the request. The pastor or pastors conducting the funeral, if not a current pastor of FBC, must be in agreement with the doctrinal stand of our church. The pastoral staff must approve each request.

FUNERAL LUNCHEONS: Funeral luncheons will be provided by the church following the funeral if the deceased person was a member or regular attendee of our church or if the deceased person was the spouse of a member or regular attendee. The church will be responsible for providing food, and adequate number of workers, and the set up and take down of the tables and chairs.

MISSIONS UPDATE:

BUSY HANDS FOR MISSIONS: We took a two-month “Vacation” and are ready to get going again. September 13 at 9:30 AM we’ll meet upstairs in the parsonage. We’re hoping to fill some ditty bags for Youth Haven Ranch and tie a couple of quilts. A few of us have been working on “pillowcase dresses” and hope to send a package of them to Brooks & Nina Buser...and maybe others in Papua New Guinea. Thanks to all who have donated pillowcases for this project. We could also use wide single-fold bias tape (takes about 2 yards for each dress) and 1/2 inch elastic (takes 13 inches per dress). If you would like to donate to this cause, you may place them in the “Missions” box by the downstairs “kitchen”. If you would like to help make these dresses, come to our next meeting and we’ll get you started. We hope to see you in September.
Dee Chapman

MISSIONS CLOSET: Visiting missionaries appreciate your generosity as they receive items from the closet. This summer was no exception.

- Regina Bell (Ruth Scheltema’s granddaughter) chose two baby blankets and two sets of towels, numerous scarves, a photo album, two candles and socks. She is expecting a baby so the baby blankets were precious to her.
- Dave Walter was appreciative of a box of medical supplies (including two blood pressure kits), lots of paint brushes, a saw, and a level. He chose for the family needs: four sets of towels, a modular Tupperware set (pink), dish towels and books.
- Leanna Wiebe was delighted to find craft items she needs for their children’s class in the Ukraine. Three new Tupperware storage containers plus two used ones were filled with some socks for the girls, many smaller candles, cookie cutters, two DVD’s, vitamins, face cream and various books. Little items made up gift bags for their three daughters.
- Haberkamps chose a six piece set of Tupperware modular’s for their needs in Chad, Africa along with a travel tote to use at the market, CD’s, books, handkerchiefs and socks.
- Our Schafer families coming back to their home church meant they had some needs that could be met by the Missions Closet. Two lap robes and a twin size quilt have covered their beds. Each child has a fluffy neck pillow and a fleece blanket. They needed some dish towels, dish clothes, towel sets, pen/pencils and lots of used items like storage containers and sheets.

When asked “what do you like best from the closet or what can we provide?” The answers were: a book of stamps, socks for all family members (athletic socks or kid’s socks), Tupperware and candles. Those are the requests for the closet and thanks so much for the way you all keep us supplied.

YOUR MISSIONARY CARE DOLLARS AT WORK: When our missionaries are having birthdays or weddings this an opportunity to send a small gift of remembrance. Ruth Scheltema was mailed a set of small Tupperware with a hand made dish cloth enclosed. Rachel Barnes wedding was acknowledged with a small Tupperware container filled with a handmade dish cloth and matching pot holders. This was enclosed in a box to her mother Rowena with a small quilt used for ministry and some vitamins.

Beth Buser also had an August birthday and she was mailed a candle from the cupboard.

It was also time to mail Steve Mayo his subscription collection of Christianity Today. Sue Mayo was asked what she might like for her birthday and she said “candle” so three small ones were included along with two small cologne and 10 pairs of socks to meet Steve’s need.

Many thanks to the lady who donated Legos for Beau Buser.

Landyn, 6/9/05

Ministry: Facilities maintenance, construction and Housekeeping

Glen was raised in a Christian family. He was led to understand his sin and accepted Christ as his personal Savior at a young age through the faithful efforts of his Sunday school teacher. From high school in 1991 through 2004, Glen worked hard as a heavy equipment mechanic and rough framer. In 2005, he rededicated himself to love Christ first and then serve Him with his skills at Life Action in the areas of facilities, maintenance, and construction.

Jennifer was raised in a Christian family and accepted Christ as her Savior at age five. She rededicated her life to serve Him when she was ten and began to feel His call toward missions. She felt honored to marry Glen and become his helpmate in 1994. Since then she had focused on raising their six wonderful and energetic children. She serves in housekeeping at Life Action.

Glen and Jenny's lifelong prayer is that their family learns to obey and walk with Christ in every aspect of their lives no matter how they are called to serve.

Food for Thought...A Challenge to be Thinking Christians

You're Free To Stay Put

By Tullian Tchividjian

William Graham Tullian Tchividjian (pronounced cha-vi-jin) is a Florida native, the pastor of Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Fort Lauderdale, a visiting professor of theology at Reformed Theological Seminary, and a grandson of Billy and Ruth Graham.

Martin Luther was once approached by a man who enthusiastically announced that he'd recently become a Christian. Wanting desperately to serve the Lord, he asked Luther, "What should I do now?" As if to say, should he become a minister or perhaps a traveling evangelist. A monk, perhaps.

Luther asked him, "What is your work now?"

"I'm a shoe maker."

Much to the cobbler's surprise, Luther replied, "Then make a good shoe, and sell it at a fair price."

In becoming a Christian, we don't need to retreat from the vocational calling we already have—nor do we need to justify that calling, whatever it is, in terms of its "spiritual" value or evangelistic usefulness. We simply exercise whatever our calling is with new God-glorifying motives, goals, and standards—and with a renewed commitment to performing our calling with greater excellence and higher objectives.

One way we reflect our Creator is by being creative right where we are with the talents and gifts he has given us. As Paul says, "Each one should remain in the condition in which he was called. So, brothers, in whatever condition each was called, there let him remain with God" (1 Corinthians 7:20,24). As we do this, we fulfill our God-given mandate to reform, to beautify, our various "stations" for God's glory—giving this world an imperfect preview of the beautification that will be a perfect, universal actuality when Jesus returns to finish what he started.

For church leaders, this means that we make a huge mistake when we define a person's "call" in terms of participation inside the church—nursery work, Sunday school teacher, youth worker, music leader, and so on. We need to help our people see that their calling is much bigger than how much time they put into church matters. By reducing the notion of calling to the exercise of spiritual gifts inside the church, we fail to help our people see that calling involves everything we are and everything we do—both inside and, more importantly, outside the church.

I once heard Os Guinness address a question about why the church in the late 20th century was not having a larger impact in our world when there were more people going to church than ever before. He said the main reason was not that Christians weren't where they should be. There are plenty of artists, lawyers, doctors, and business owners that are Christians. Rather, the main reason is that Christians aren't who they should be right where they are.

"Calling", he said, "is the truth that God calls us to himself so decisively that everything we are, everything we do, and everything we have is invested with a special devotion, dynamism, and direction."

So, you're free to stay put, right where you are.

100th Anniversary City Rescue Mission

This year marks the 100th Anniversary of the founding of the City Rescue Mission of Lansing by Thomas and Emily Dolton. From humble beginnings above a "junk shop", the mission has grown to a ministry operating from three separate locations, including Michigan Avenue and our recently completed Maplewood Center, and providing food, shelter, and clothing to men, women, and children in Michigan's capital area.

In celebration of their centennial, they would like to invite you to an open house at the Michigan Avenue and Maplewood Centers on Saturday, September 17th, 2011, from 2-4 p.m. As space is limited, parking is generously being provided by Brogans at Michigan Avenue and Michigan Works near Maplewood. For more details of this event, please visit their website: www.lcrm.org
